

HKICT Awards 20th Anniversary Video Series – Healthcare and Community

For the sake of our patients we cannot give up We press forward developing new solutions to address their needs In recent years, we have developed 3D printing technologies that offer realistic tactile feedback and ultrasound visibility These can be used for training doctors and nurses Our Research and Development (R&D) team works closely with different departments to produce custom models tailored to their specific needs while also enhancing patient safety Over the past 19 years, our team has won a total of nine awards from the Hong Kong ICT Awards This has strengthened public confidence in our work and greatly encouraged our colleagues As users, we have experienced firsthand the benefits that innovative technology can bring In recent years, global innovation and technology have advanced rapidly Hong Kong as an international city with a global perspective people in Hong Kong are full of potential Innovative medical technology will undoubtedly play an essential role in the future As researchers we should be driven by the mission to contribute to society and improve people's lives That is the true driving force behind technological progress Our product has undergone 20 years of continuous R&D Technologically
we have now entered the fourth generation capable of meeting the needs of over 95% of individuals with hearing impairment Given the high credibility and strong reputation of the Hong Kong ICT Awards after receiving this award our product's reputation and market recognition have been greatly enhanced Our brand awareness has also grown more rapidly For the next generation of innovators I believe the most important thing is to act early and truly understand market needs rather than focusing solely on technology itself Our original intention has always been to create meaningful impact Through technology, we aim to fill existing gaps enable earlier intervention in health management and generate long-term value for community Winning this award has brought our company widespread recognition from both the public and private sectors significantly enhancing customer trust At the same time, the platform provides sustained exposure giving us direct access to investors and clients and accelerating our progress in commercial partnerships and solution deployment
